Statement DuPure®U76A: California's Proposition 65

Substances listed on the California's Proposition 65 chemicals listing, known to the State of California to cause cancer or reproductive toxicity (version of December 29, 2023), are not intentionally used as additive in the formulation of the above-mentioned polypropylene grade. The absence of these substances has not been checked by tests. It is the responsibility of the California business owner to develop his or her own regulatory compliance plan.

The information provided in this document applies to the products mentioned above as they leave the production facility of Ducor Petrochemicals B.V., and does not cover any additive, pigment, or any other third party material, subsequently included by the convertor.
